YOUNG CORBETT TRAINING HARD

Expects to Be in Good Condition for Fight With Frayne.

San Francisco, July 13.—Excursions to Billy Shannon's at San Rafael, where Billy Rothwell ("Young Corbett") is training for his match with Johnny Frayne on the 17th of this month, are becoming quite popular among the sporting men on this side of the bay. Everyone seems anxious to see the popular little Denverite at his work and to find out how much truth there is in the rumor that he has "come back." Corbett, in his prime, was one of the most popular fighters who ever drew a glove, and his rejuvenation, coming in such a spectacular manner after almost four years of retirement, is consequently hailed with delight by hundreds of his friends and admirers.

The lightweight seems to realize, even in his training, that his argument with Frayne will be one of the critical periods of his professional career, and no fighter ever trained more honestly, and conscientiously for a contest than Billy is training today. When he arrived in San Francisco a few weeks ago he was the possessor of a punch which turned several of the well-fed local sports green with envy. Indeed, it is remarkable how Corbett could put up the fights that he did in the east with his stomach in the condition it was in.

Since beginning his work, this surplus girth has been slowly but surely disappearing, until today little remains but firm, hard muscles covering his entire abdomen, and capable of withstanding the severest sort of punishment. Corbett will be in the greatest shape he has known since he left the ring for the glint and glitter of the "Great White Way."

Johnny Frayne is rapidly rounding into perfect form out at Millett's and will, if anything, probably enter the ring a pound or two underweight. If he keeps working at the present clip, Johnny is a tireless performer in training, and he keeps banging things around the gymnasium until his manager and trainer take all the apparatus away from him and tie him down on the rubbering table. Johnny likes the bracing climate of Colma and declares that it is fitting him for the greatest showing of his career.

CROSS' PURSE HUGE JOKE.

New York Fighter Gets $370 for San Francisco Bout.

The joke of the season is the purse that Leach Cross pulled down after being knocked out by Hyland in 41 rounds in San Francisco. That $370 isn't a joke to Leach; it's a tragedy. Cross has taken in $1,500 more than he is right at home in the New York for six and ten-round bouts. And here is the longest, hardest, most disappointing fight he ever had, ending in a cold knockout, and he gets about enough to cover bare expenses. It isn't much better than in the old days when championing met and fought to a finish with bare fists for a purse of $100 or so.

But still Cross has no legitimate wall to make. He was gambling, he had a chance and lost. The thing Cross gambled on wasn't the purse at Colma. It was a far bigger thing he had in view. He thought he could beat Hyland. He staked his future on that chance. If he had been lucky enough to knock Hyland out he would have had a chance to fight Battling Nelson. Even getting as near the lightweight throne as that could have put Cross in the big money-making class, even the bare chance of beating Nelson would be prospect dazzling enough to any fighter. A champion of the world can stage it and get a good living as long as he cares to.

FLYNN-PAPKE FIGHT IS SWIFT

Pueblo Man Had the Illinois
Fighter in Much Trouble.

Maud Junction Arena, Los Angeles, July 14.—In ten rounds of vicious fighting, Jim Flynn of Pueblo, Colo., bested Billy Papke of Springfield, Ill., before the Pacific Athletic club tonight. Of the ten rounds, Flynn had a decided lead in four, and four rounds were even. In the other two Papke had the better of it. Flynn had a slight advantage in weight and made good use of it. He rushed Papke throughout the fight and held the Illinois man half fell and half slipped, no man holding on repeatedly. Flynn's face showed the effects of the contest, his mouth, nose and left eye being badly swollen.

Papke started the fighting, whirlwind fashion, having a decided lead in the opening rounds. In the following rounds Flynn fought back to an even standing and in the closing rounds won a fair advantage.

Half a dozen times Flynn rushed Papke through the ropes and the nearest thing to a knockout was when the Illinois man half fell and half slipped, no man holding on repeatedly. Flynn's face showed the effects of the contest, his mouth, nose and left eye being badly swollen.

Fight By Rounds.

Round 1—Flynn waded into his opponent at the gong. Coming out of a clinch, Papke landed on Flynn's nose with a terrific right and left and drew blood. Coming out of another clinch Papke rained blows to Flynn's face without return. Papke's round.

Round 6—Flynn opened with a hard right over the heart. Flynn knocked Papke through the ropes with a right to the nose and then helped him back. Papke put a right to Flynn's jaw and they clinched. Papke appeared distressed at this stage.

Round 9—Flynn made Papke run away in Flynn's corner they fought head to head. Papke planting a right on Flynn's badly swollen left eye. Flynn fought Papke to the ropes, but the German held his own. They exchanged lefts and clinched, Papke butting Flynn. Flynn's round.

Round 10—Papke made Flynn back away by planting for his body. Flynn put a hard right to face and rushed Papke to the ropes. A right uppercut caught Papke in the mouth and Flynn hammered hard on the kidneys. They were fighting in the center of the ring at the end of the round. The law permits no decision, but Flynn had the advantage.

PATHFINDER CAR ARRIVES
IN MADISON, WISCONSIN
Madison, Wis., July 14.—Pathfinder Dan Leach arrived in Madison at 2:09 this afternoon and the first contesting car in the Glidden tour to check was No. 4, Madison, the driver, P. E. C. Wing, greeting Mr. Lewis at 3:10. The thirty other cars arrived at intervals of from fifteen seconds to a minute and a half. After checking in the cars were lined up on Main street.

The run of 175.2 miles from Chicago, with only heat and dust to annoy the riders, was otherwise uneventful. For the trip tomorrow to Lacrosse, Wis., the weather bureau predicts rain.

Car 110, McIntyre, was lost track or until today. The car was located badly disabled north of Racine, where it ran into a ditch.

EXHIBITS OF LONG LOST JAPANESE ART

Seattle, July 13.—A beautiful art, long lost to the world, is noticeable in the collection of Japanese arts and crafts exhibit of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition. Several hundred years ago, an isolated village of Japan was famous as the home of a family of artists; from their skillful hands came specimens of metal workmanship of such wonderful faithfulness that an obscure hamlet became the Mecca for art collectors from all over the most artistic nations of the world.

Out of stubborn iron, the slender, nervous fingers of this family wrought reproductions of animals, birds, flowers and men, whose beauty and truthfulness was wonderfully marvelous. For the effects accomplished, nothing other than the crudest metal and simplest implements were used. Yet there was one other feature called into use, and this was the knowledge and skill required. This, at one time the greatness of the little town in Ishikawa, in northern Japan, gradually disappeared before the encroachment of newer methods of metal and art production; the skillful fingers and patient days, weeks, months and years of constant toil given to the production of the beautiful objects were slowly relegated to the past. In the course of time art was forgotten; it passed with the steel-like enamel of the Samurai sword scabbard and was practically forgotten.

Of all men on earth today, an obscure and almost unknown artist, Yamada Chosaburo, a descendant of the original makers of the art, is the only person whose artistic hand is capable of bringing forth the old effect from crude sheets of cold iron. One looks on a miniature horse beaten from a single iron plate and the realism is difficult of understanding. A little group of iron puppies, sleeping on a block of the same material, look so near life that one waits for them to awaken. There are several other samples exhibited, and all show the same unbelievable skill. The little horse is valued at $600. The puppies are worth $75 and a smiling iron monkey rates at $300. When one sees the countless marks of the hammer they seem reasonable, and the wonder is how they can be made at all.

Pineules are for all kidney, liver, bladder, rheumatic and urinary complaints. They assist in separating salt and water with their poisons from the blood. They act promptly. Sold by Geo. F. Cave and Depot Drug Store.
